Overview

- In 2015, 2,504 African Americans died by suicide in the US. Of these, 2,023 were male (80.79%). The overall suicide rate per 100,000 was 5.66.¹
- In 2015, there were 481 African American female suicides in the US. The suicide rate of African American females was the lowest among men and women of all ethnicities.²
- In 2015, researchers released data showing that there were more suicides among African American children ages 5 to 11 than among Caucasian children. This was the first national study to observe higher suicide rates for African Americans than for Caucasians in any age group.³
- While the majority of studies show that African American men are more likely to die by suicide while African American women are more likely to attempt suicide, recent research has observed that Caribbean black men in the US have the highest attempt rate for the African American community.³
- The suicide rate for African Americans ages 10-19 was 3.76 per 100,000.¹
- For African American youth (ages 10-19), the rate of male suicides (5.59 per 100,000) was 3 times higher than that of females (1.87 per 100,000).¹
- Males accounted for 86.9% of suicides completed by elderly African Americans (ages 65+). This percentage is mirrored by the suicides completed by elderly Caucasian men.¹
- Firearms were the predominant method of suicide among African Americans regardless of sex or age, accounting for 46.64% of all suicides. Suffocation was the second most prevalent method (27.75%).¹
